Barnes and Noble Hosts Bookfair to Support Born to Read

The Pinellas Public Library Cooperative’s Born to Read program recently participated in a bookfair event at Barnes and Noble to support the family literacy program. As part of the event, the Born to Read Coordinator, Dy Broussard, provided a Teddy Time Tales storytime and craft program for attendees. The event raised over $600 that will be used to support family literacy materials. These funds support Born to Read families throughout Pinellas County through their public libraries. Children’s books and resources will be purchased with these funds to benefit those individuals in the Pinellas community.

Our project, Born to Read, is a library literacy program that provides several services to the residents of Pinellas County. The program informs parents about the benefits of reading; encourages reading by distributing developmentally appropriate books; and invites families to use their local library by giving them a free library card and a coupon redeemable for a free baby book when they attend a story time at their local library. The goal of Born to Read is to support at-risk families in understanding their role as their child's first teacher and provide intervention in the chronic cycle of illiteracy and poverty. Through a partnership with health care providers, education partners, our member libraries and community agencies that were already servicing the at-risk community, Born to Read provides intervention to these families to break this cycle. The targeted population considered at-risk in Pinellas County are teen parents, poverty level families, ESOL families and families with special needs.

For more information, please contact the Pinellas Public Library Cooperative at (727) 441-8408.
