A Monthly Publication of the Pinellas Public Library Cooperative

www.pplc.us

Pinellas County Libraries as Small Business Incubators

The Bureau of Library Development Division of Library and Information Services, Florida Department of State, has been highlighting business development services offered in your Pinellas Public Libraries. The most recent appears on their website: <http://dos.dos.state.fl.us/library-archives/services-for-libraries/florida-libraries-as/small-business-incubator/pplc/>

Public Libraries in Pinellas County join the Florida State Library and libraries around the world by promoting libraries as places within communities where people can explore ideas to initiate and grow their own small businesses.

Innovators have the opportunity to use public library meeting rooms, resources and equipment to brainstorm and refine their ideas with the assistance of others who have expertise and are willing to share their time and talent.

As more print resources move online, entrepreneurs can access vital information from the library to start or grow their businesses from any place at any time.

Collaborations between public libraries and the business sector go hand in hand. Public libraries have supported small business growth for decades by offering start-up information in a variety of formats, supporting job placement activities and well as workforce development opportunities. Public libraries have long supported small business growth by offering:

- Start-up information
 - Job placement support
 - Workforce development opportunities
- Libraries in the Pinellas Public Library Cooperative (PPLC) embrace their role as community hubs where people can plan and grow their own small businesses.

Entrepreneurs use library meeting rooms, resources and equipment to help brainstorm and refine ideas.

Workshops and one-on-one sessions with experts offer more opportunities to receive specialized knowledge and valuable feedback.

Public Library Resources

PPLC's libraries provide entrepreneurs with many helpful resources, including:

- Shared work spaces
- Free high speed Internet connections
- Free databases that focus in on local needs
- Access to low- or no-cost equipment to test and initiate new business ideas
- 3-D printers in idea labs and maker spaces – and more!
- Business training
- Computer training
- Online Resources

Entrepreneurs can access vital information through the library from anywhere, any time.

An especially good example is Clearwater Public Library System's Small Business Guide links to a wealth of material on topics like:

- Business plans
- Marketing
- Codes, laws and public records
- Trademark searches

Small business workshop at Safety Harbor Public Library
