Embrace The NEW SCHOOL YEAR!

The carefree summer months are quickly drawing to a close, which means the start of a new school year is just around the corner! A new school year bustles with new opportunities and challenges. It is both an exciting and stressful time for parents and children. As families begin to acclimate into their new school routine, it is good to remember that your public library has resources and programs your family needs for a successful school year!

Your public library has many resources available to students and families. Library shelves are stacked full of books for all age groups, reading levels, and interests. Whether your child is looking for the newest entertaining book in the Diary of A Wimpy Kid series or they are searching for resources for a research project, the public library has what they need and a team of friendly staff to help them!

The benefits of a public library do not end at books. There are computers available for public use, online databases to aid in research, and trained staff to answer questions and aid in finding the perfect book to capture your child's interest. There are also numerous classes and events for children to participate in. From homework help to art classes, there are various opportunities for learning, fun, and socialization at YOUR public library. There are resources for adults as well! There are lots of ways that your public library can help adults apply, and prepare for higher education, from study rooms to reference services.

As your family adjusts to the new school year, remember that your public library is here to help you and your family have the most successful and enjoyable school year possible! Browse this program guide for classes and events for adults and children of all ages.
